

Celebration of Craftswomen

Fort Mason – San Francisco

Friday, Nov. 11 - 1PM to 3PM

Price including admission & round-trip transportation: $95

RSVP to 415-861-7433 by Nov. 8th

November is devoted to Women Artists, and we begin by exploring San Francisco’s largest holiday fine crafts retail fair.

The Celebration of Craftswomen features decorative ceramic and glass vessels, sculpted wood, painted silk and leather clothing, home furniture and accessories, photography and paintings.

Noontime Concerts

Financial District – San Francisco

Tuesday, Nov. 15 – 11:30AM to 2:30PM

Price including admission & round-trip transportation: $85

RSVP to 415-861-7433 by Nov. 11th

Old St. Mary’s Cathedral provides a beautiful setting for a mid-day interlude of inspired piano music for four hands.

Patricia and Vera Purcell will delight us with music by Rachmaninov, Schubert, and Gershwin.

Francesca Woodman

South of Market – San Francisco

Monday, Nov. 21 - 1PM to 5PM

Price including admission & round-trip transportation: $105

RSVP to 415-861-7433 by Nov. 17th

SFMOMA presents a retrospective of works by the late American photographer Francesca Woodman.

Perhaps best known for her black and white pictures featuring herself and female models, she produced a complex body of work that continues to be the subject of much attention, some thirty years after her death.

The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman

Downtown – San Rafael

Sunday, Nov. 27 – 12PM to 3:30PM

Price including admission & round-trip transportation: $80

RSVP to 415-861-7433 by Nov. 22nd

In one of the most honored movies made for television, Cicely Tyson stars as a woman born into slavery in the 1850s, who lived to become part of the civil rights movement in the 1960s.

We enjoy this Emmy-winning film in a beautifully restored Art Deco theater located in the heart of downtown San Rafael.